About

UK's leading Fire and Rescue Service magazine

FIRE magazine keeps you up to date with key developments within the sector across four issues a year.

The trusted voice of fire and emergency since 1908, FIRE magazine brings you all the latest news, views, technological, legal and policy developments to affect the Fire and Rescue Service. It campaigns to improve public and firefighter safety by informing, educating, challenging and supporting fire sector progress.

Available in digital format, FIRE magazine is the UK's only fully subscribed fire journal and is read by key thought leaders and decision makers across all aspects of the fire sector.

Coronavirus Journalism Excellence - Best Comment winner

FIRE magazine's white paper, Coronavirus: A Five-Step Reset for Fire and Emergency Leaders, under the headline 'A new architecture for society', was awarded the Press Gazette's Coronavirus Journalism Excellence Best Comment - Specialist Media.

Major international award recognition

FIRE magazine has won the Editor's Column Silver Award 2021 at the coveted Tabbies - the world's premier business publications award

Message from the Editor

"As the journalism excellence award highlights, our correspondents and contributors provide thought provoking but impartial coverage and offer real insight into the direction the fire sector is heading

"The only fully subscribed journal for fire and rescue services with a controlled circulation that reaches all of the key decision makers, FIRE is the award-winning, market-leading choice of chief fire officers and leaders across the UK"

Andrew Ledgerton-Lynch OBE,
FIRE* magazine Editor

"Excellent webinar, one of the most informative I have been on for a very long time, thank you"

FIRE's Digital Service

The digital service will begin in the new year with the launch of the FIRE Gazette, a regular update providing multi-media content for all personnel through video, podcasts and audio commentary.

The FIRE Gazette will focus on content that FIRE magazine excels in producing, from white papers offering deep dives and potential solutions to fire sector challenges, to investigative reports on key issues of the day. Contributions from fire sector leaders will be accompanied by audio commentary, and interviews with contributors will provide a high-level overview of contributions, to make sure all personnel can benefit from subscribing to FIRE magazine.

Subscribers will receive quarterly digital-only editions of FIRE magazine (March, June, September and December) and will have unlimited access to all articles, resources and all issues of the FIRE Gazette at fire-magazine.com

FIRE Gazette

The FIRE Gazette is a condensed version of FIRE magazine, containing all of the best bits, and will be sent out to all subscribers – 38,000 UK subscribers, 15,000 world-wide) by email on the months the magazine does not appear (January, February, April, July, August, October and November).

The FIRE Gazette differs from the magazine in being entirely multi-media driven, with audio and video links to articles to cater for the neurodiverse learning styles of fire and rescue personnel.

Subscribers will receive the digital FIRE Gazette – keeping personnel up to date with latest developments including podcasts, webinars, video and audio content, plus a rich seam of resources by our award-winning team of journalists including special investigations, Fire Knowledge Insights papers, and commentary.

Webinars

FIRE magazine's webinars are free live and accessible to replay for subscribers providing in-depth analysis and expert insight on a wide range of fire sector issues from children and young people to recruiting and retaining on-call firefighters. The acclaimed Firefighter Risk Index series focuses on safety issues covering heat stress, decontamination, wildfire and resilience.

Podcasts

FIRE's podcasts are free to access with full length editions available exclusively to subscribers. Featuring fire sector experts and leaders, FIRE podcasts with Editor Andrew Ledgerton-Lynch cover everything from lithium-ion battery storage to the state of the fire nation.

Insights

FIRE magazine is pleased to offer regular insights available exclusively to FIRE magazine subscribers. Offering expert analysis, Fire Knowledge Insights papers feature in-depth commentary on everything from fire sector technology and innovation to firefighter safety, culture and wellbeing.

Go to www.fire-magazine.co.uk/insights to browse the digital editions, then click on an issue to sign in or subscribe. You can then view online and download your own copy.

Meet our Editorial Contributors

Informing, engaging and inspiring...

Senior Correspondent Tony Prosser

Tony served 30 years in the Fire and Rescue Service in Wales, Thames Valley and West Midlands Fire Service including 23 years in tactical and strategic command roles. In recent times, Tony introduced the University of Wolverhampton Fire and Rescue Degrees programmes in 2010 and is a course leader. He is also a joint director of Artemis Training and Development Limited, which specialises in FRS incident command training in the UK.

Tony has co-authored Fire and Incident Command: A practitioner's guide and The Grenfell Tower Fire: Benign neglect and the road to an avoidable tragedy.

Tony is a Fellow of the Institution of Fire Engineers and is FIRE's longest serving active correspondent, having contributed since 2003.

Features Editor Lorna King

Lorna is a freelance writer who has been contributing to FIRE magazine since 2020. Her specialist area is primarily health, fitness and wellbeing and her varied content is keenly focussed on inspirational stories within the Fire and Rescue Service. She has explored themes of personal resilience, extreme endurance challenges and the scientific monitoring of contaminants, as well as offering professional health and fitness advice tailored to our firefighters.

Lorna's mixed British and Indian ethnicity has also inspired her to write for FIRE about equality, diversity and inclusion. She will continue to follow and welcome any news in this key area from fire and rescue services across the UK.

As Features Editor for FIRE, Lorna is continually searching for engaging and inspiring stories of personal growth and development throughout the service.

Communications Correspondent Andrew Chilvers

Andrew started his career on the Middle East Economic Digest at Emap during the first Gulf War. He later worked at the Financial Times and for Daily Mail Group as Night

Duty Editor at Teletext.

He also worked abroad for many years in Hong Kong on the South China Morning Post and in Vietnam as an editor and foreign correspondent for Australian Consolidated Press. Back in Europe he joined the Warsaw Business Journal as Managing Editor, also overseeing its sister publications in Prague and Budapest.

On his return to the UK, Andrew was Editorial Director at former FIRE magazine owner Pavilion Publishing where he first worked with the FIRE team.

Fire and Rescue Correspondent Sophie Whitfield

Sophie leads communications for Surrey Fire and Rescue Service and has worked within this industry since 2016. Her work particularly focuses on reputational management, crisis and change communications. As FIRE magazine's Fire and Rescue Correspondent, Sophie liaises with communications teams throughout the country to enable more industry-led news and sector learnings to be shared.

Science and Technology Correspondent Dr Dave Sloggett

Dr Dave Sloggett has a long career in science and technology at the forefront of exploiting new technologies in operational situations. He led teams deploying ANPR in the 1980s, built solutions using machine learning techniques in the 1990s and developed new ideas for sensor-processing systems. Since 2010 he has been at the forefront of Oxford University's attempts to exploit innovations in the field of AI and machine learning as a Visiting Fellow.

Measurable results

We provide detailed analytics and performance reports to track the impact of your advertising campaign. You will have access to key metrics such as impressions, click-through rates, and engagement levels, allowing you to evaluate the effectiveness of your investment.

Digital Magazine

FIRE magazine offers a unique platform to showcase your products and services to a targeted audience – FIRE provides readers with high quality content focused on the latest trends, innovations and insights in the fire sector.

Interviews, podcasts and webinars with leading Fire and Rescue Service leaders means fire-magazine.com is the go-to resource for all fire personnel and the subscription journal of choice for the majority of UK fire and rescue services and a growing list of international organisations.

Multi-Channel Promotion

In addition to the digital edition, our magazine maintains a robust online presence through our website, social media platforms, and email newsletters. Your advertisement will be featured across these channels, maximizing your reach and visibility.

Testimonial

“Having worked in the UK fire sector for almost 35 years and subsequently launching my own company, the importance of being able to access and showcase our solution and our thinking behind it was vital to the growth and success of iTrackPPE.

I was fortunate to have previously worked with FIRE Magazine and it is through this relationship I told them about my post-retirement plans to start iTrackPPE.

From this point onwards the team have been nothing but supportive, flexible and generous with their time and resources, which has assisted me in multiple ways. Their knowledge and expertise in how and where to focus available investment into marketing, brand awareness and ‘thought leadership’ articles have been invaluable and definitely guided iTrackPPE as a company in raising our profile and establishing us as a recognised and trusted brand.

The reality of starting a company is quite daunting, with cashflow being a constant balancing act. It presents a dilemma of where and when is the best time to invest in marketing? However, this is one aspect of growing iTrackPPE that has not been an issue, because as soon as I shared my idea to create the company, the FIRE Magazine team provided me with a bespoke package outlining the type and focus point of each individual article and advertisement.

Alongside this they offered a payment plan which recognised the challenges of cashflow within a startup SME and allowed us to move from pre revenue to trading before being invoiced.

Fourteen months on we’ve secured our first 5-year contract with Capita Business Solutions providing the Fire Service College with RFID enabled asset management of their PPE, operational equipment and breathing apparatus.

FIRE Magazine’s international reach has resulted in us finalising agreements in new territories with well-established international suppliers in the Middle East, New Zealand and Australia to sell iTrackPPE. These opportunities being directly related to us having a presence in the FIRE and Fire International magazines.

Without the level of support and investment from the FIRE Magazine, iTrackPPE would have struggled to realise the level of marketing and brand awareness we’ve achieved.”

Award Ceremonies

Global Search & Rescue Excellence Awards

Fire Knowledge, the publisher of FIRE magazine and organiser of the Excellence in Fire & Emergency Awards, in partnership with the Institute of Search and Technical Rescue, is pleased to introduce this brand-new awards for 2025 which will showcase the close global community of search and rescue responders and recognise individual, team and organisational excellence.

The Global Search & Rescue Excellence Awards recognise and celebrates the achievements of search and rescue teams, volunteers, organisations and suppliers who work so tirelessly to ensure we can respond in someone's moment of need.

The event celebrates those from around the world who have shown unstinting dedication to the search and rescue community and for teams and individuals who have really made a difference.

Why sponsor the Global Search & Rescue Excellence Awards?

- Be part of the inaugural annual awards from FIRE magazine and have your brand aligned with one of the most prestigious awards ceremonies in the fire and emergency services
- You can attend the event itself and be there to celebrate the achievements of the international search and rescue services
- Network with fire services and other organisations at the awards ceremony and lunch
- Have your company logo on all the promotional material before and after the event
- Show your support for best practice within the international search and rescue services

16 May 2025

“From our own experience, we know that the activities of search and technical rescue are often undertaken through a selfless devotion to duty. Those choosing to work or volunteer in these activities do so for the good of others and rarely seek recognition for their actions. Therefore holding an event that recognises the outstanding contribution of individuals, teams and organisations, who often risk their own lives and comforts for the good of others is invaluable and one in which we are delighted to be a partner.”

David O’Neill MBE, Operations Director of the Institute of Search and Technical Rescue
